Both Alpha Metering and you, as our client, will need to take steps, as required by the POPI Act, in processing personal information. As defined by the POPI Act, when personal information is received, it places obligations on the person responsible (yourself as our client and Alpha Metering) when processing the customer's personal information. We have put measures in place to comply with the following requirements:

- Safeguard personal information when Alpha Metering processes it.
- Regulate the use of personal information and all parties in relationship with Alpha Metering to comply with these measurements.

1. Please note that it is prohibited that any of the "Standard Terms and Conditions" in this Agreement are allowed to be amended or scratched out. This may result in a delay of electricity connection until all, and correct documentation has been received. The agreement is the only agreement between The Company and the Consumer and replaces all previous agreements, whether in writing or verbal. No changes to this agreement will be valid unless reduced to writing and signed by both parties.
2. Upon completion of this document, the Company undertakes to provide the Consumer with a monthly tax invoice, where applicable, on which a detailed account of charges appears.
3. The Company agrees to provide the service subject to availability from, and at a rate as determined by the local Supply Authority, as amended from time to time in accordance with the National Energy Regulator of South Africa (NERSA).
4. The Company operates according to the official by-laws of the Local Supply Authority.
5. The Company supplies utility services under the incidental credit section of the NCA.
6. Alpha Metering (Pty) Ltd will accept the installed capacity to the Consumer 's premises as the relevant supply size when determining the applicable tariff. It is therefore accepted that the installed supply size is contractually agreed between the Consumer and the Landlord.

INITIAL: ……

7. The Consumer is liable for consumption charges on the premises, according to the meter readings, or prepaid metering devices, from the date when consumption commences, until the date of the final meter reading when the Consumer ceases to consume electricity and/or water and/ or gas at the premises.
8. The reading of the electricity and / or water and/ or gas meter, or usage registered on a prepaid device, shall be proof of the consumption of the premises unless otherwise proved by the Consumer or The Company.
9. An initial deposit as determined by Alpha Metering (Pty) Ltd is payable before any service is rendered. Deposits are non-interest bearing and are subject to revision. Deposits can be adjusted up to 3 times the average value of the utility account calculated over a 3-month period. The deposit amount paid will be refunded by Alpha Metering (Pty) Ltd when the premises are vacated, notice of such vacating has been provided to the Company and all outstanding amounts are fully paid.
10. Whenever an order for utility service disconnection due to delinquency or non-payment of any charges has been received and a deposit is not being held for the service, a deposit will be required for continuation of the utility service. When utility service has been terminated by the consumer or by the company and there are unpaid utility charges outstanding, the balance of the deposit will be applied against any unpaid account balances on the final bill for terminated services, and any amount of the deposit balance remaining will be refunded to the customer within 30 days of vacating of premises. Deposits shall not bear interest.
11. If a prepaid meter has been installed and at a later stage there is a fault at the DB Board, including wiring, earth leakages and circuit breakers being damaged or faulty, it will not be the responsibility of The Company to cover any costs arising from such claims. It will remain the responsibility of the end user to ensure and confirm that the installation was done correctly.
    - In the event of a prepaid meter being damaged due to negligence of any kind, the cost of any tamper codes being issued and/or a prepaid meter that needs to be replaced, including keypads for both electricity and gas, will be for the account of the Consumer. All monies due need to be paid in full before the new meter, keypad or the tamper code will be activated.
    - Should we need to replace the prepaid meter or its keypad due to negligence or insert a tamper code, there will still be a R 250.00 (Two Hundred and Fifty Rand Only) call-out fee plus R190.00 (One Hundred and Ninety Rand only) in respect of a tamper code payable in full, beforehand.
    - Should you require any assistance with your prepaid meters, unless it is a faulty meter, a call-out fee of R 350.00 (Three Hundred and Fifty Rand Only) will be payable.

INITIAL: ……

Faulty meters exclude replacement of batteries (it will remain the Consumer's responsibility that all batteries are operational), faulty wall sockets, zero credit on the prepaid meter or electricity that tripped due to faulty appliances or faulty electrical issues. This includes the same on prepaid gas where applicable.

- Where there is a monthly service fee payable, whether it being management of water meters or the tariff structure of the prevailing City Council, the applicable monthly service fee will be payable in full. Should a Consumer purchase electricity directly from UNIPIN or any other outlet, the amount due will still be payable. Any arrear amounts will be deducted from the first purchase of tokens in a calendar month.
- Should you purchase tokens only from UNIPIN, and we do not receive the monthly service fee, the amount will be deducted from your deposit upon vacating the premises.

12. Non-receipt of an account does not exempt account holders from the liability to pay an account on the due. Kindly update your contact details regularly to ensure adequate communication.
13. A pre-termination notice will be issued in terms of Section 12. (1) of the Electrical supply by-laws in respect of current accounts and debt balance brought forward.
14. Failure to pay the amount payable before the due date may result in electricity supply being disconnected and prepaid purchases blocked without any further notice.
15. Prescribed fee for disconnection and reconnection shall be charged and your deposit may be increased.
16. Immediate reconnection of supply after payment cannot be assured.
17. Prepaid electricity: In the event that utility services account is in arrears, purchase of prepaid electricity will be blocked on our vending system until all arrears have been settled in full.
18. Should you vacate the premises, please ensure that written notice thereof is submitted to our offices with at least 7 (seven) working days' notice. Clients must please note that they remain responsible for electricity, and/ or gas and/ or water consumption, including sewer charges at the premises until such notice is received by Alpha Metering. It is recommended that the main switch be switched off when physically vacating the premises, thereby avoiding any further consumption before a final reading can be taken. Please ensure that the keypads for the prepaid electricity and/or water and/or gas metering devices are left in the unit in full working condition as you will be held responsible for any cost arising in replacing such devices.
19. Deposits are refundable within 30 (Thirty) days after written notification for the cancellation of this application and providing that the balance of the final account is paid in full. Proof of bank details must be supplied together with the vacating notice to ensure the refund is made to the Alpha Metering (Pty) Ltd account holder.
